I. INTRODUCTION - A DOZEN NEWS LAW QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question No. 1. When can my local governmental board legally close its meeting and go into executive session?

Answer: Nebraska Public Meetings law, section 84-1410, allows closed session by the recorded, affirmative vote of a majority of its voting members only under the following circumstances:

- A. The closed session must be clearly necessary for the protection of the public interest or for the prevention of needless injury to the reputation of an individual who has not requested a public meeting.
- B. If, but only if, one or the other of those first two criteria is met, then closed sessions may be held for such reasons as: (a) strategy sessions with respect to collective bargaining, real estate purchases, or litigation (litigation means a lawsuit in court, or a suit which is imminent, as evidenced by a threat of litigation communicated to or by the public body); (b) discussion regarding deployment of security personnel or devices; (c) investigative proceedings regarding allegations of criminal misconduct; (d) evaluation of the job performance of a person. Any other reasons given must be of similar obvious validity, and if doubtful, then the law requires the meeting to stay open. The law leans strongly toward open meetings, open government and public participation.

C. It is not permissible for a board to hold a closed meeting to discuss the possible appointment or election of a new member to any public body. Such political discussions are to be held in the open session.

D. It is now clear that no formal action, in the sense of a collective decision or promise to make a certain decision, can be made in the closed session. Furthermore, when a closed session goes beyond the stated reason for the closing, all members who recognize that and remain or permit it, are in criminal violation of the open meetings law. Penalties, especially for repeated violations, have now been increased substantially.

Question No. 2. May a legal newspaper charge less than the statutory "legal rate" for publishing notices?

Answer: The law, Neb. Rev. Stat. § 33-141, sets a maximum rate. The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that a printer is not required to charge the full legal rate, so a printer or publisher may contract, if it so desires, to publish for less than the statutory legal rate.

Question No. 3. Is the sheriff's and municipal police department's "log" of activity a public record which can be obtained and looked at freely?

Answer: Yes, if it is in the nature of an "original record of entry such as police blotters, offense reports, or incident reports." Nebraska Revised Statutes §29-3521. If the police log, however, is purely investigatory in the sense that it includes the identification of confidential informants, or investigative information which has to be kept secret until an arrest is made, then the police or sheriff will have an argument that it is not public information. In such cases, however, they should not be putting that part of the information on the "blotter" or incident report. There definitely should be an original record of entry as to police and sheriff activity, and that original record of entry should be a public record under the above-mentioned statute.

Question No. 4. If we print a letter to the editor which is libelous, can the newspaper also be held liable even though we did none of the investigation and have no way of knowing whether the libelous comment was true or false?

Answer: Yes, and especially because you have printed or "republished" a libel without checking on the accuracy of the reputation-damaging remarks in the letter. See section on Libel.

Question No. 5. Are we entitled to any birth certificate and any death certificate from the Bureau of Vital Statistics?

Answer: Yes, after legislation in 1992, we are, as members of the public, upon payment of the fee and proof of identification, permitted to see any birth or death certificate except those birth certificates of persons later adopted, or persons whose birth out of wedlock has been subsequently legitimized. Upon proof of news media status, we are also deemed to have good cause automatically to obtain a certified copy, for a small statutory fee. Arrangements can also be made with the Bureau for a mass search under certain conditions, at a much reduced rate. The Bureau is currently completing regulations with further details concerning access, forms, and similar details.

Question No. 6. Must a school board secretary publish individual school teachers' salaries?

Answer: It was long a subject of litigation and dispute, but now the Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled that the claim publication statute is not clear enough to require individualized listing of teacher and other employee salaries in any school district. They do remain public record, but the district is only required to publish the salary expenses generically, by class of employees, rather than individually.

Question No. 7. If a reader claims that a newspaper article libeled him or her, should I always retract the offending statement?

Answer: Retract if you are wrong, but be very careful that you not simply retract automatically without thoroughly checking out the truth. A retraction of a statement which in effect was substantially true in the first place can do more damage than good. See the section on Libel.

Question No. 8. My local governmental board is required by statute to publish a "concise summary" of its proceedings, and the question is how detailed should that summary be?

Answer: There is little case law in Nebraska on the subject. The summary should certainly include all of the substantive motions and full identification of the votes thereon; it should include the names of those present; it should indicate whether executive session was used and for what reason on the record; and you should argue that the concise summary should include the primary reasons given for the passage of major legislation, ordinances or decisions, or for their rejection. This last is the "gray" area and subject to some debate as to amount of detail, but courts around the nation have required that a reasonable effort be made to give the public an understanding of the decisions as well as the decisions themselves. If there is a pattern of abuse of that principle, then the summary you are being furnished to publish is unlawfully "concise." By negotiations with the League of Municipalities, we have reached an informal consensus agreement on all but the last item-the statement of the principal reasons for decisions. Some entities just want to publish their regular minutes. If these are complete, they may be adequate or even more than statutorily required, or they may be woefully inadequate. Try to press for as full an explanation to the public as possible, and do not settle for less than the minimum of the identified votes on all substantive issues decided, and the reasons for executive sessions.

Question No. 9. If I publish an advertisement which turns out to have been false or misleading, can I be called to account legally for any damage caused by such ad?

Answer: Not unless you knew the ad was misleading or deceptive. Once such misleading material has been called to your attention, however, you must take action to discontinue the ad or require it to be changed so that it is no longer misleading, false or deceptive, or completely refuse to run the ad. You do have a right to refuse to run any advertisement, whether it be commercial or political, under the United States Supreme Court decision in Miami Herald v. Tornillo.

Question No. 10. What is the current law pertaining to publication of real estate tax delinquency lists?

Answer: Per Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-1804, the delinquent tax list is now to be published once a week for three consecutive weeks commencing the first week in February in a legal newspaper, and in counties having more than 250,000 inhabitants, in a daily legal newspaper of general circulation designated by the county board and which is published in the county.

Question No. 11. If I find a nice photo or writing on the internet which does not contain a copyright notice, can I use it without the author's permission without incurring liability?

Answer: No. Under the federal copyright statutes, an author has a copyright in his or her work even if no notice is affixed to the work. The absence of a notice may limit the remedies available to the author for infringement, but it does not mean that there is no copyright.

Question No. 12. My newspaper operates a website and publishes an online edition. The website allows readers to post comments about articles and editorials. Is the paper liable if a reader posts a libelous comment about a news story?

Answer: Generally, no. Section 230 of the federal Communications Decency Act of 1996 provides libel immunity to internet service providers for content posted by others. This immunity does not apply if the newspaper plays some role in the creation of the libelous content.

II. LEGAL NOTICE

A. Introduction

References are to the Nebraska Revised Statutes. This section-legal notice-is an outline and contains only publication laws. While pertinent statutes or portions thereof are quoted, there is no substitute for examination of the statutes or consultation with your attorney. The statutory citation will serve as a lead and time saver. If the statute specifically fixes the rate, it is quoted or summarized; if the statute fixes the number of publications, it is quoted or summarized. However, in this book, as in the statutes, the courts have construed widely separated statutes as controlling.

The legal notice statutes are compiled in the same order as the revised statutes so that the number preceding the dash indicates its relative position in the book. In using the index, if consideration is given to the source of the material to be published as City, County, School District, Courts, or Clerk of Courts, or the subject matter of the notice, it is hoped the index may prove adequate.

Some helpful background information:

City of Metropolitan Class-Population more than 300,000

Omaha and its statutes are found in chapter 14; that is, citations with the number 14 before the dash.

City of Primary Class-Population 100,000 to 300,000

Lincoln and its statutes are in chapter 15.

Cities of the First Class-Population 5,000 to 100,000

Covered by statutes in chapter 16.

Cities of the Second Class-Population 800 to 5,000

(With option of adopting Village government)

Covered by statutes in chapter 17.

Villages-Population 100 to 800

Covered by statutes in chapter 17.

B. Legal Notice Rates

The various rates for publications are stated in the respective acts; the index indicates the variety of rates provided. We believe the controlling rate in the absence of specific legislation is:

The legal rate for the publication of all legal notices shall be forty-one cents a line, single column, standard newspaper measurements for the first insertion, and shall be thirty-five and nine-tenths each subsequent insertion. Publication of such notices may be in any type selected by the publisher, but for the purpose of uniformity the calculation of fees for such publication shall be based on the official conversion table developed by the Secretary of State.

Nebraska Legal Notice Rates Effective September 9, 1996

Size of Type (Pica Width-9)	1st Additional Insertion	Additional Insertions
5-1/2 point (per line)	53.553	46.887
6 point (per line)	49.087	42.980
7 point (per line)	42.079	36.842
8 point (per line)	36.816	32.236
9 point (per line)	32.724	28.655
10 point (per line)	29.452	25.788

(For complete table see §33-141)

C. Legal Notice Publication Calendar

In 1986, the Legislature passed LB 960, which permits adjacent county legal newspapers to publish legals, when the county in question itself has no resident legal newspaper.

Article 9. Weed Eradication and Control

2-955. Notice; kinds; effect; failure to comply; powers of control authority. (1) Notices for control and eradication of noxious weeds shall consist of two kinds: General notices and individual notices. General notices shall be on a form prescribed by the director; individual notices shall be on a form prescribed by §2-955. Failure to publish general weed notices or to serve individual notices as provided in this section shall not relieve any person from the necessity of full compliance with the Noxious Weed Control Act and regulations thereunder.

(a) General notice shall be published by each control authority, in one or more newspapers of general circulation throughout the area over which the control authority has jurisdiction, on or before May 1 of each year and at such other times as the director may require or the control authority may determine.

(b) Whenever any control authority finds it necessary to secure more prompt or definite control of weeds on particular land than is accomplished by the general published notice, it shall cause to be served individual notice upon the owner of record of such land at his or her last-known address, giving specific instructions and methods when and how certain named weeds are to be controlled. Such methods may include definite systems of tillage, cropping, management, and use of livestock. 2-965. Project of control without individual notice; control authority; powers. A control authority may direct and carry out projects of control for one or more specific noxious weeds without individual notice if the control authority has caused publication of the notices. The notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation throughout the area over which such control authority has jurisdiction and shall be published weekly for four successive weeks prior to the project commencement date. A. False Advertising

28-1476. Advertisement; untrue, deceptive, or misleading; unlawful. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association, with intent to sell or in any way dispose of merchandise, securities, service, or anything offered by such person, firm, corporation, or association, directly or indirectly, to the public for sale or distribution, or with intent to increase the consumption thereof, or to induce the public in any manner to enter into any obligation relating thereto, or to acquire title thereto, or an interest therein, to make, publish, disseminate, circulate or place before the public, or cause, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated or placed before the public, in this state, in a newspaper or other publication, or in the form of a book, notice, handbill, poster, bill, circular, pamphlet or letter, or in any other way, an advertisement of any sort regarding merchandise, securities, service, or anything so offered to the public, containing any assertion, representation, or statement of fact which is known to be untrue, deceptive, or misleading.

28-1477. Deceptive or misleading advertising; unlawful acts; enumerated. For the purpose of section 28-1476 any person, firm, corporation, or association shall be deemed guilty of deceptive or misleading advertising that makes, publishes, disseminates, circulates, or places before the public, or causes, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public in this state, in a newspaper or other publication, or in the form of a book, notice, handbill, poster, bill, circular, pamphlet, or letter, or in any other way, an advertisement of any merchandise for sale at retail at less than original actual cost or less than original replacement cost, whichever is lower, if the merchant does not have a sufficient quantity of merchandise to meet the reasonable expected demand, or the advertisement either (1) fails to state in such advertisement the quantity of merchandise available for sale, or (2) fails to state that the advertiser is discontinuing the item.

28-1478. Deceptive or misleading advertising; violation; penalty. Any person, firm, corporation or association violating the provisions of section 28-1476 shall be deemed guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

B. Political

49-1474. Political newsletter or mass mailing; not to be sent at public expense; violation; penalty. No political newsletter or other campaign mass mailing shall be sent at public expense by or on behalf of any elected official after that person has announced his or her candidacy for any office. An elected official violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

49-1474.01. Political material; disclaimer requirements; violation; penalty. (1) The person except, an individual or individuals acting independently utilizing their own personal resources, who pays for the production, distribution, or posting of a billboard, placard, poster, pamphlet, or other printed matter relating to a candidate or ballot question shall cause a disclaimer containing the name and street address of the person to appear on such matter. The person who pays for a radio or television advertisement relating to a candidate or ballot question shall cause a disclaimer containing the name of such person to be included in the advertisement, and the radio or television station shall, for a period of at least six months, keep the street address of such person on file and divulge it to any person upon request.

(2) The size and placement of the disclaimer shall be determined by rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the commission. The rules and regulations shall exempt from the disclaimer required by this section windshield stickers, yard signs, bumper stickers, campaign buttons, and balloons and may also exempt other items relating to a candidate or committee which are printed or reproduced at the request of such candidate or committee.

(3) Any person who knowingly violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class IV misdemeanor.

C. Lottery

This section of the notebook outlines the federal and state laws dealing with lottery advertisements, and provides some guidance on commonly encountered problems.

1. The federal statutory scheme.

Since 1934, federal law (see 18 U.S.C. § 1301-1307) has made it a crime, punishable by a fine at the discretion of the court and up to two years in prison, to mail:

Any newspaper, circular, pamphlet, or publication of any kind containing any advertisement of any lottery, gift enterprise, or scheme of any kind offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance, or containing any list of the prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift enterprise, or scheme, whether said list contains any part or all of such prizes.

Over the years, the federal statutes have made various exceptions to this basic prohibition. The current exception, Section 1307 reads:

- (a) The provisions of Sections 1301, 1302, 1303, and 1304 shall not apply to -
 - (1) an advertisement, list of prizes, or other information concerning a lottery conducted by a State acting under the authority of State law which is -
 - (A) contained in a publication published in that State or in a State which conducts such a lottery; or
 - (B) broadcast by a radio or television station licensed to a location in that State or a State which conducts such a lottery; or
 - (2) an advertisement, list of prizes, or other information concerning a lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, other than one described in paragraph (1), that is authorized or not otherwise prohibited by the State in which it is conducted and which is -
 - (A) conducted by a not-for-profit organization or a governmental organization; or
 - (B) conducted as a promotional activity by a commercial organization and is clearly occasional and ancillary to the primary business of that organization.

The first part of the exception applies only to states that have an official state lottery. The second part deals with other legal lotteries, and will be the primary focus of this memo.

Basically, under the second subsection of the new exception, certain types of lotteries, i.e., lotteries "authorized or not otherwise prohibited by the State in which it is conducted," run by certain types of entities, i.e. "not-for-profit or "governmental" organizations, may be advertised by newspapers which are delivered through the mail. Also, the amendment allows advertisements for certain types of lotteries conducted by for-profit businesses.

2. Nebraska lottery laws.

Because the federal law relies on state law in defining which lotteries can be advertised, we have to take a look at the Nebraska lottery statutes.

Nebraska law "authorizes" several different types of operations which satisfy the federal definition of "lottery." For example, the Nebraska Bingo Act allows certain types of nonprofit organizations to obtain licenses to conduct bingo games. The Nebraska Pickle Card Lottery Act allows nonprofit organizations to obtain licenses to sell pickle cards, or to retain agents to sell such cards for them. The Nebraska Lottery and Raffle Act allows nonprofit organizations to obtain licenses to conduct lotteries and raffles, as defined by the Act. The Nebraska Small Lottery and Raffle Act allows nonprofit organizations to conduct "small" lotteries (less than $1,000 gross proceeds) or "small" raffles (less than $5,000 gross proceeds) without first obtaining a license. Finally, the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act allows counties, cities, or villages to obtain a license to conduct a raffle, pull-tab, or keno lottery game.

There is one situation under Nebraska law in which a commercial enterprise can legally operate a game of chance requiring consideration for participation (other than horse-racing, of course). Under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 9-701 (Reissue 1987), a person engaged in a business in Nebraska may conduct a "gift enterprise" as a promotional device. The gift enterprise cannot independently generate a profit for the business. While the business cannot charge a payment for participation, it can condition participation upon the purchase of a product.

One additional Nebraska statute requires consideration. While the Nebraska Bingo Act provides sufficient state authorization under the federal law to advertise bingo games, the Nebraska Act itself provides some restrictions on the publicity given to bingo games. Section 9-241.07 provides:

Advertising; limitations; exception. Only a licensed organization or a qualifying nonprofit organization may advertise a bingo occasion, a limited period bingo, or a special event bingo. No advertising for any bingo occasion or occasions conducted by any organization shall include any reference to an aggregate value of bingo prizes exceeding four thousand dollars.

3. The mesh between federal and state laws.

Based on the interplay between the federal and state lottery statutes, we have advised many of you that you may legally advertise Nebraska lotteries, so long as the following conditions exist:

- (1) The lottery is conducted by a valid, nonprofit organization, that is tax exempt under Section 501 of the Internal Revenue Code, or a governmental entity; and
- (2) The nonprofit or governmental entity conducting the game has obtained a license for the game from the Nebraska Department of Revenue.

With regard to a commercial business conducting a gift enterprise, we have advised you that the promotional activity may be advertised so long as no monetary consideration other than a product purchase is required for participation, and so long as the business running the promotion does not generate an independent profit from the promotion itself.

While we remain convinced that our legal analysis makes sense, a ruling by the FCC some years ago under a related federal statute calls some of that advice into question.

Under the Nebraska statutes, both pickle card games licensed on behalf of a nonprofit organization and keno games licensed on behalf of a city or county may be marketed through private, for-profit companies. Typically, those for-profit organizations (bars, restaurants, pickle or keno "parlors", etc.) sell game pieces to the public, collect the money, and give the proceeds to the nonprofit organization, less a commission charged by the operator.

The same federal statutory scheme described earlier also applies to broadcasters. The Nebraska Department of Revenue asked the Federal Communications Commission for an opinion about whether pickle card or keno games that are marketed through a for-profit business qualify for advertising under the federal statute. In an opinion dated January 31, 1991, the FCC responded to the Department of Revenue's request.

The FCC said that pickle card games marketed by the nonprofit organization itself may be advertised. Thus, for example, if the Elks or Legion Club has a licensed pickle card game and the cards are sold at the Elks or Legion Club itself, that pickle card game can be advertised.

However, according to the FCC, if the pickle card game or keno game is operated by a private business on behalf of a nonprofit organization, or city or county, the game is not truly "conducted by" the nonprofit or governmental organization. Therefore, the FCC opined that such games may not be legally advertised.

The FCC opinion relies heavily on the "legislative history" underlying a 1990 change to the federal statute. We think the FCC's legal analysis is questionable. Nevertheless, it is the federal government's opinion in this area which counts, not ours. Moreover, while the post office has not rendered a similar opinion, and the FCC's opinion does not apply to newspapers, the postal statutes are identical to the statutes covered by the FCC opinion. It is therefore clear that a Nebraska newspaper runs at least some risk if it advertises pickle card or keno games that are marketed by a for-profit business, even if those games are licensed to a charity or city by the Nebraska Department of Revenue. To our knowledge, no Nebraska newspaper has been charged with a federal crime, or otherwise been bothered by a federal agency or prosecutor, about an advertisement for a charitable game marketed by a for-profit entity since the FCC opinion was issued over 20 years ago.

4. Now to the heart of the matter - What does all of this mean?

With the exception of bingo games, a Nebraska newspaper can advertise any lottery that is licensed by the Nebraska Department of Revenue, so long as the lottery is not actually marketed or operated by a for-profit business on behalf of the licensee.

With regard to bingo games, while the federal laws would allow advertising, the Nebraska bingo statute itself allows bingo to be advertised only if the advertising does not reference aggregate prize values exceeding $4,000.

Based on the FCC opinion mentioned earlier, Nebraska newspapers are taking some risk if they advertise pickle card or keno games, even if licensed, where the actual game pieces are sold through for-profit businesses.

Finally, under the Nebraska Small Lottery and Raffle Act, Nebraska newspapers can advertise lotteries with gross proceeds less than $1,000 or raffles with gross proceeds less than $5,000, even where no DOR license is issued, so long as the small lottery or raffle is conducted by a nonprofit organization and so long as the proceeds of the raffle or lottery go to "charity or community betterment purposes" (that language comes from the statute). Only one small lottery per month can be held by the non-profit organization, and one or more raffles can be held in a calendar month provided that total combined gross proceeds cannot exceed $5,000.

5. Examples of common questions.

The following questions are all hypothetical, but are based on common inquiries made by newspapers.

- a. The Knights of Columbus has a bingo license and conducts a bingo game every Friday evening. Can you run an ad promoting the bingo game?
Yes. As long as the ad does not reference any aggregate value of prizes exceeding $4,000.
- b. The Knights of Columbus also has a pickle card license and sells pickle cards at its bingo games. Can you run an ad for the pickle card sales?
Yes.
- c. The Legion Club has a pickle card license, and sells its cards both on its own premises and through various other for-profit businesses. Can you advertise the pickle card game?
Yes and maybe. You can legally advertise the sale of the pickle cards at the Legion Hall, but due to the FCC opinion, you take at least some risk if you advertise the sale of pickle cards through the for-profit business.
- d. The local high school athletics booster club is raffling off a car donated by the local Chevy dealer, in order to raise funds for new uniforms. Can you advertise the raffle?
Probably not. Even if the raffle will gross less than $5,000, only nonprofit organizations incorporated under Section 501 of the Internal Revenue Code are eligible under the Small Lottery and Raffle Act. Most high school booster clubs are not so incorporated. If the club has a certificate under Section 501 of the IRC and if the club has a DOR license or will generate less than $5,000 on the raffle, the raffle can be advertised.
- e. The city where your paper is located has recently obtained a keno license. The city has contracted with a for-profit business to market the keno game. Can you advertise the game?
There is some risk here. This is the topic of the FCC ruling.

- f. A new furniture store is holding a grand opening, at which it will raffle off a new sofa. In order to win the sofa, a raffle participant must be present, but need not purchase anything. Can the grand opening raffle be advertised?
Yes. this is a gift enterprise.
- g. Same as (f) except raffle participants must purchase an item worth $25 or more to be eligible to win the raffle. May this raffle be advertised?
Yes. The Nebraska gift enterprise statute allows conditioning participation on purchase of a product. The federal statute requires only that the lottery be "occasional and ancillary to the primary business of [the] organization."
- h. The Village of Las Vegas (the name has been changed to protect the guilty) wants to raise money for new playground equipment for the village park by holding a "Bossie Bingo" game. In "Bossie Bingo," a pasture is marked off in squares and chances for the squares are sold. A cow (usually stoked full of feed) is then turned loose in the pasture. The person who purchased the square in which nature moves Bossie to leave her mark wins a prize. Can "Bossie Bingo" be advertised?
No. The only lotteries which can legally be conducted by a village are ones in which a winning opportunity is represented by a ticket. Winning tickets may only be determined by a random drawing, pull-tab device, or keno mechanism.

BINGO

Prior to the 1994 legislative session, Nebraska Statutes limited advertisements for licensed bingo games to "flyers" distributed by the charitable organization and signs (of specified size) located on the premises where the bingo game was conducted. Beginning October 1, 1993, that statute was repealed and was replaced by a law which allows newspaper advertising of bingo games by a licensed organization or qualifying nonprofit organization with only the following exception (9-124.07):

"No advertising for any bingo occasion or occasions conducted by any organization shall include any reference to an aggregate value of bingo prizes exceeding four thousand dollars."

The organizations eligible for a bingo license from the Nebraska Department of Revenue are all nonprofit organizations. Thus, the federal law allows advertising of bingo games licensed by DOR, and the only state restriction is noted above: you can't refer to aggregate prizes exceeding $4,000.

STATE LOTTERIES

Nebraska has implemented a state lottery, and also participates in a combined multi-state lottery (Powerball). Under both state and federal law, you can advertise both. You can also advertise state lotteries operated in other states. You should note however, that casino gambling (for example, on riverboats, at Bluff's Run, or in Deadwood, S.D.) is not considered a state lottery, and cannot be legally advertised.

ON THE RESERVATIONS

Yes, you can advertise gambling that takes place on Native American reservations or land.

OTHER

Colorado, South Dakota and Iowa (riverboats) now have a form of legalized gambling. May you advertise it? No. That's a federal law, not state. You could advertise only if the gambling operations were operated by the state, another form of government or a charity.

SALES AND USE TAX ON ADVERTISING SUPPLEMENTS

Since the passage of LB345 in 1993, codified as section 77-2704.07, sales and use taxes are not imposed on advertising supplements distributed with any newspaper that is regularly issued at average intervals not exceeding one week, regardless of whether or not the retailer takes possession of the supplement from the printer before delivery of the supplement is made to the newspaper.

D. Discriminatory Advertising

20-318. Unlawful acts enumerated. Except as exempted by section 20-322, it shall be unlawful to:

* * *

(3) Make, print, publish, or cause to be made, printed, or published any notice, statement, or advertisement with respect to the sale or rental of a dwelling that indicates any preference, limitation, or discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, handicap, familial status, or sex or any intention to make any such preference, limitation or discrimination.

E. Labor

48-1115. Notice of employment; preference or discrimination; race, color, religion, sex, disability, marital status, national origin; unlawful; exception. It shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer, labor organization, or employment agency to print or publish or cause to be printed or published any notice or advertisement relating to employment by such an employer or membership in or any classification or referral for employment by such a labor organization, or relating to any classification or referral for employment by such an employment agency, indicating any preference, limitation, specification, or discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, disability, marital status or national origin, except that such a notice or advertisement may indicate a preference, limitation, specification or discrimination based on religion, sex, disability, marital status, or national origin when religion, sex, disability, marital status, or national origin is a bona fide occupational qualification for employment.

F. Motor Vehicle

60-1411.03. Unauthorized acts. It shall be unlawful for any licensee or motor vehicle dealer to engage, directly or indirectly, in the following acts:

(1) To advertise and offer any year, make, engine size, model, type, equipment, price, trade-in allowance, terms, or make other claims or conditions pertaining to the sale, leasing, or rental of motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers which are not truthful and clearly set forth;

(2) To advertise for sale, lease, or rental a specific motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer which is not in the possession of the dealer, owner, or advertiser and willingly shown and sold, as advertised, illustrated, or described, at the advertised price and terms, at the advertised address. Unless otherwise specified, a motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer advertised for sale shall be in operable condition and, on request, the advertiser thereof shall show records to substantiate an advertised offer;

(3) To advertise a new motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer at a price which does not include standard equipment with which it is fitted or is ordinarily fitted, without disclosing such fact, or eliminating any such equipment for the purpose of advertising a low price;

(4) To advertise (a) that the advertiser's prices are always or generally lower than competitive prices and not met or equaled by others or that the advertiser always or generally undersells competitors; (b) that the advertiser's prices are always or generally the lowest or that no other dealer has lower prices; (c) that the advertiser is never undersold; or (d) that no other advertiser or dealer will have a lower price;

(5) To advertise and make statements such as, Write Your Own Deal, Name Your Own Price, Name Your Own Monthly Payments, and other statements of a similar nature;

(6) To advertise by making disparaging comparisons with competitors' services, quality, price, products, or business methods;

(7) To advertise by making the layout, headlines, illustrations, and type size of an advertisement so as to convey or permit an erroneous impression as to which motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer or motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers are offered at featured prices. No advertised offer, expression, or display of price, terms, down payment, trade-in allowance, cash difference, or savings shall be misleading by itself, and any qualification to such offer, expression or display shall be clearly and conspicuously set forth in comparative type size and style, location, and layout to prevent deception;

(8) To advertise the price of a motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer without including all charges which the customer must pay for the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer, excepting state and local tax and license and title fees. It shall be unlawful to advertise prices described as unpaid balance, unless they are the full cash selling price and to advertise price which is not the full selling price even though qualified with expressions such as with trade, with acceptable trade, or other similar words;

(9) To advertise as at cost, below cost, below invoice, or wholesale, unless the term used shall be strictly construed that the word cost, as used in this subdivision or in a similar meaning is the actual price paid by the advertiser to the manufacturer for the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer so advertised;

(10) To advertise claims that Everybody Financed, No Credit Rejected, We Finance Anyone, and other similar affirmative statements;

(11) To advertise a specific trade-in amount, or range of amounts;

(12) To advertise the words Finance, Loan, Discounts, or others of similar import, in the firm name or trade style of a person offering motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers for sale, unless such person is actually engaged in the finance business and offering only bona fide repossessed motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers. It shall be unlawful to use the word Repossessed in the name or trade style of a firm in the advertising of motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers sold by such a company unless they are bona fide repossessions sold for unpaid balances due only. Advertisers offering repossessed automobiles for sale shall be able to offer proof of repossession;

(13) To advertise the term Authorized Dealer in any way as to mislead as to the make or makes of motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers for which a dealer is franchised to sell at retail;

(14) To advertise or sell new motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers by any person not enfranchised by the manufacturer of the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer offered without disclosing the fact in each advertisement which includes the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer and in writing in the lease or purchase agreement that the licensee or motor vehicle dealer is not enfranchised by the manufacturer for service under factory warranty provisions. No person shall transfer ownership of a motor vehicle by reassignment on a manufacturer's statement of origin unless the person is enfranchised to do so by the manufacturer of the motor vehicle;

(15) To advertise used motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers so as to create the impression that they are new. Used motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers of the current and preceding model year shall be clearly identified as Used, Executive Driven, Demonstrator, or Driver Training, and lease cars, taxicabs, fleet vehicles, police motor vehicles, or motorcycles as may be the case and descriptions such as Low Mileage, Slightly Driven may also be applied only when correct. The terms demonstrator's, executive's, and official's motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers shall not be used unless (a) they have never been sold to a member of the public, (b) such terms describe motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers used by new motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer dealers or their employees for demonstrating performance ability, and (c) such vehicles are advertised for sale as such only by an authorized dealer in the same make of motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer. Phrases such as Last of the Remaining, Closeout, Final Clearance, and others of similar import shall not be used in advertising used motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers so as to convey the impression that the motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers offered are holdover new motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers. When new and used motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers of the current and preceding model year are offered in the same advertisement, such offers shall be clearly separated by description, layout, and art treatment;

(16) To advertise executives' or officials' motor vehicles, motorcycles, or trailers unless they have been used exclusively by the personnel or executive of the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer manufacturer or by an executive of any authorized dealer of the same make thereof and such motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers have not been sold to a member of the public prior to the appearance of the advertisement;

(17) To advertise motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers, owned by or in the possession of dealers, without the name of the dealership or in any other manner so as to convey the impression that they are being offered by private parties;

(18) To advertise the term wholesale in connection with the retail offering of used motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers;

(19) To advertise the terms auction or auction special and other terms of similar import unless such terms shall be used in connection with motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers offered or sold at a bona fide auction to the highest bidder and under such other specific conditions as may be required in Chapter 60, Article 14;

(20) To advertise free driving trial, unless it means a trial without obligation of any kind and that the motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer may be returned in the period specified, without obligation or cost. A driving trial advertised on a money back basis or with privilege of exchange or applying money paid on another motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer shall be so explained. Terms and conditions of driving trials, free or otherwise, shall be set forth in writing for the customer;

(21) To advertise (a) the term Manufacturer's Warranty, unless it is used in advertising only in reference to cars covered by a bona fide factory warranty for that particular make of motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer. In the event only a portion of such warranty is remaining, then reference to a warranty may be used only if stated that unused portion of the warranty is still in effect; (b) the term New Car Guarantee, except in connection with new motor vehicles, motorcycles, and trailers; and (c) the terms Ninety-day Warranty, Fifty-fifty Guarantee, Three-hundred-mile Guarantee; and Six-month Warranty, unless the major terms and exclusions are sufficiently described in the advertisement;

(22) To advertise representations inconsistent with or contrary to the fact that a motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer is sold as is and without a guarantee. The customer contract shall clearly indicate when a car will be sold with a guarantee and what that guarantee is, and similarly shall clearly indicate when a car is sold as is and without a guarantee; and

(23) To advertise or to make any statement, declaration, or representation in any advertisement that cannot be substantiated in fact, and the burden of proof of the factual basis for such statement, declaration, or representation shall be on the licensee or motor vehicle dealer and not on the board.

A. SUMMARY OF LIBEL LAW

1. Introductory. Nebraska Libel Law derives from court cases decided in this state and in the United States Supreme Court, from statutes found at Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 25-839, 25-840 and 25-840.01, and from the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, Free Speech and Free Press clauses. Basically, libel law is a series of checks and balances between the concept of free speech and the concept of the right to personal reputation.

The technical definition of "libel" is a publication of language, the obvious meaning of which imputes to a person a criminal act, or subjects the person to ridicule or disgrace, public hatred or contempt, and which in essence detracts from the person's reputation in a substantial way. To be actionable, a libel must be a false statement, and in most cases it must be a statement of fact, not a statement of opinion. Some case law does say that opinions are not automatically and absolutely protected, unfortunately. If an opinion strongly implies the existence of false factual underpinnings, then it still has some potential for libel. Truth is a "defense", but actually the burden of proving falsity is usually on the plaintiff or complaining party, rather than on the defendant to prove the truth. That applies in public figure cases and in private figure plaintiff cases, at least to the extent that the publication was on a topic of public concern.

In cases where a person is (1) a public official and acting in an official capacity, or (2) a public figure known to the general public, or (3) a private person who on some controversy has voluntarily put himself in the spotlight, then almost all of the applicable law derives from United States Supreme Court decisions and the First Amendment to the Constitution. In those situations, New York Times v. Sullivan, (1964), and the many court cases which have explained that case, such a complaining party is required to prove that the defendant not only published a false, defamatory fact, but that the defendant actually knew of the falsity or at least had very strong doubts of the truth of what was being published. That is the concept of "actual malice." It essentially means "lying."

In private figure cases, where a person who is neither a public official nor a public figure complains of libel, the burden is still on the plaintiff to show not only that a false defamatory fact was published of him which would damage his reputation, but also that it was a result of at least some degree of fault, although not fault so extreme as "lying." In most states, it is necessary for the plaintiff still to prove that negligence on the part of the publisher resulted in that publication of the falsehood. In some states the plaintiff must prove gross negligence or something like that which is a higher degree of fault. The Nebraska Supreme Court has not yet defined completely what standard will apply here but one should assume it will be "negligence." If it can be proved that your reporters, editors and/or publisher made a false statement about someone and breached the normal professional standard of care in gathering, editing and publishing a news or informational item, then a private figure who is damaged thereby might succeed in a libel case. In other words, assume that mere negligence may well become the standard of fault required to be proved in Nebraska, unless and until the Nebraska Supreme Court decides otherwise.

Nevertheless, it should be understood that a totally innocent error where due care was used and yet the error still occurred, is not actionable in libel. Some fault has to be proved.

2. Prevention of Libel. In preventing the publication of libels, attention should be given to at least the following matters which are particularly sensitive.

a. Sources. If you have only a single source and that source insists on confidentiality, then you are in a dangerous situation if you print reputation-injuring material. If you are sued for libel, you may face the moral and possibly legal choice of either disclosing your source contrary to your promise, or losing the libel case because you are unable to satisfy the judge and jury that you used due care to find the truth. If at all possible, it is best to find a source who will back you up, and better yet find two sources, at least one of which is unimpeachable, for highly damaging material which must be printed. The quality of sources is also important, which means that their reputation, background, previous dependability, likelihood to have true information, and similar factors ought to be taken into account in evaluating material which is reputation-injuring.

b. Care with Headlines, Syntax and Captions. It is quite possible to have a perfectly good story turned in and then have it made libelous accidentally by a careless headline, by an editing error whereby the words are turned around or even typographically changed, or where the caption of a photograph, for example, is switched or inaccurately placed or worded. There should be extreme care used especially with headlines, because even though you are entitled to the context of the whole story, a highly-libelous headline sometimes will be so damaging that even the context will not cure the problem.

c. Letters to the Editor. The publisher is liable for libel in letters to the editor, and therefore care especially must be taken with letters to the editor on emotional subjects, customer complaint or "action line" stories and the like. If highly damaging statements of fact are in a letter to the editor about some person or company, it is wise to treat it with care. Either find an independent means to verify the truth of the statement, force the writer of the letter to the editor to supply sufficient proof, or edit out the libelous material, normally after consultation with the writer of the letter. Many newspapers use letters to the editor which were signed, but the signature was withheld. The Nebraska Shield Law permits you to withhold that name. But withholding the name of the author simply means that the newspaper itself will take all the "heat", in the event there is a libel or breach of privacy case. Letters to the editors have furnished the material for numerous libel cases all around the country and while they are an extremely important and necessary part of a newspaper, in most people's view, nevertheless they require special attention and "libel proofing."

d. Jokes and Cartoons. Sometimes the law of libel has little sense of humor. A highly satirical joke or cartoon has occasionally been made the subject of a successful libel lawsuit. There is a great deal of defense allowed to newspapers and cartoonists on the basis that they are writing only satirically and expressing an opinion, but nevertheless it is not impossible to make a libel case out of a cartoon or other humorous material, if in fact it does contain a false statement of fact injuring reputation. A picture could imply a false statement of fact even though it be a mere cartoon. While there is great protection for political criticism and public issue humorous comment, nevertheless this is an area where the libel-conscious editor needs to do some good preventive work.

e. Balancing News Stories. It is important where a reputation-damaging story is about to be run to try to obtain a comment from the subject. If the answer is no comment, print that. If the subject denies the material, print that. If the subject threatens a lawsuit, make very sure your sources are verifiable and that the truth is with you. If you can't be confident of that, either get legal help or work some more on the story before it runs. By balancing news stories, one should not necessarily attempt a balance in the terms of space given to each side. It is simply a matter of trying to get the other side of the story if there is one and giving it fair play where available.

f. Editing. On stories which appear to injure the reputation of a person or business enterprise, one extra editing even at the page proof stage may knock out a dangerous typographical error or something that simply missed being caught on the first rewrite. That extra editing also would be evidence of due care and would help avoid a claim of negligence.

g. Proper Use of Retraction Statute. Under Nebraska law, even if a publisher prints a libel, the publisher will be subject only to actual or "special" damages, if a retraction is timely printed. Do not, however, retract and admit fault if in fact you are not satisfied that there was genuine error. If the complaining party tries to prove "actual malice" against you, the retraction statute is nullified, and your having admitted fault may work against you in those cases. Nevertheless, in any case where an actual error is pointed out, whether it be for libel, or simply for newspaper integrity purposes, the retraction statute is extremely useful both in defusing the situation and in limiting damages in many cases. It is a highly valuable tool in libel prevention.

h. Settlement by Apology. Closely related to the retraction statute is a settlement done by personal apology where an error has been made. It is important in such cases to try to bring the matter to a close at the time the apology is rendered; that is, try to get an agreement by letter or by witnessed conversation at the very least, that the matter is deemed to be at a close. It is not wise, in the author's opinion, to offer "nuisance settlements" on any libel cases. Those encourage additional claims and also encourage lawyers to start filing more cases. If cash settlement is ever considered, it should only be after extremely close scrutiny of the liability and damages issues with the assistance of your insurer, if any, and counsel. Genuine out-of-pocket losses, clearly caused by the libel, may be worth considering. Even then, we would normally counsel against a monetary offer of settlement.

i. Libel Insurance. Libel insurance may well be a wise move for most publications in view of the extremely high cost of defending a libel case even successfully. Using a fairly high deductible can help keep the premium within reason;

3. Defenses After Litigation is Filed.

a. The Story Was Substantially True.

- b. The Publisher Used Due Care to Avoid the Error but it Inadvertently Occurred Anyway.
- c. The Story was Essentially Opinion, not Assertions of Fact.
- d. Absolute or Qualified Privilege. Newspapers are rarely absolutely privileged to libel someone. Rather, a newspaper may have a "qualified" privilege to report statements made at a public meeting or in an official government document, even if the statements are false, so long as the newspaper does not act with common law malice, i.e., hatred, spite, ill-will. Senators have an absolute privilege when they are on the floor of the Unicameral, and persons reporting alleged wrongs to professional supervisory bodies such as the bar association, etc., have an absolute privilege. Lawyers and witnesses have a privilege also during the course of legal proceedings to make statements that might otherwise be libelous.
- e. Retraction. This defense is a partial defense, limiting damages to special or out-of-pocket losses except where malice is proved against the publisher.
- f. No Actual Damage to Reputation Proved. Plaintiffs frequently, indeed almost uniformly, exaggerate their loss of reputation for strategic, litigation-aimed reasons.
- g. If the Plaintiff is a Public Figure or Public Official, the Lack of Knowledge of Falsity, or Lack of "Malice" in the Constitutional Sense, is a Defense. Burden of proving such malice is always on the plaintiff.

h. Neutral Report Privilege. (Correct quotation from a reliable source). In this regard, attribution is extremely important both as a matter of a preventive action and in some cases as a defense to a libel suit after filed. In other words, it may be defensible to quote a highly reputable source of information, even if later on that information turns out to be false and libelous. This defense is not commonly honored but has been used successfully on a few occasions. It is akin to a "privilege" to trust such a source.

4. Closing Comment on Libel.

The danger of libel is a real one, even in Nebraska where we do not allow "punitive" damages to be collected by anyone, but it is at least as dangerous to allow concern over libel to shut off necessary news, information and opinion. The Nebraska Supreme Court has been relatively favorable to libel defendants and there are very few successful libel awards against Nebraska newspapers. We know of no recent such cases at all. Attention to detail, special care for stories which obviously injure reputation, and a general sensitivity to the potential defenses and to writing courteous, prompt retractions will continue to defuse the vast majority of all libel problems in this state. Where a particular story is troublesome but it is nevertheless highly important that it be printed, there is almost always a way. The extra work to come up with an additional source, careful use of language to create a "libel-proof" way to say the truth, and an honest attempt to balance out the story by getting the adversely affected side's viewpoint will permit the newspaper to do its job without libel jeopardy. Use your local counsel or the Nebraska Press Association's Hotline legal service for preventive "libel-proofing."

B. RETRACTIONS

25-839. Libel or slander; how sufficiently pleaded; burden of proof. In an action for a libel or slander it shall be sufficient to state generally that the defamatory matter was published or spoken of the plaintiff, and if the allegation be denied, the plaintiff must prove on the trial the facts showing that the defamatory matter was published or spoken of him.

25-840. Libel or slander; truth as defense; effect of actual malice. In the actions mentioned in section 25-839, the defendant may allege the truth of the matter charged as defamatory, prove the same and any mitigating circumstances to reduce the amount of damages, or prove either. The truth in itself and alone shall be a complete defense unless it shall be proved by the plaintiff that the publication was made with actual malice. Actual malice shall not be inferred or presumed from publication.

25-840.01. Libel; invasion of privacy; damages; retraction; effect. (1) In an action for damages for the publication of a libel or for invasion of privacy as provided by section 20-204 by any medium, the plaintiff shall recover no more than special damages, unless correction was requested, as herein provided, and was not published. Within twenty days after knowledge of the publication, plaintiff shall have given each defendant a notice by registered mail specifying the statements claimed to be libelous or to have invaded privacy as provided by section 20-204 and specifically requesting correction. Publication of a correction shall be made within three weeks after receipt of the request. It shall be made in substantially as conspicuous a manner as the original publication about which complaint was made. A correction, published prior to receipt of a request therefore, shall have the same force and effect as if published after such request. The term special damages, as used in this section, shall include only such damages as plaintiff alleges and proves were suffered in respect to his or her property, business, trade, profession or occupation as the direct and proximate result of the defendant's publication.

(2) This section shall not apply if it is alleged and proved that the publication was prompted by actual malice, and actual malice shall not be inferred or presumed from the publication.

C. NEBRASKA PRIVACY ACT

20-201. Right of privacy; legislative intent. It is the intention of the Legislature to provide a right of privacy as described and limited by sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01, and give to any natural person a legal remedy in the event of violation of the right.

20-202. Invasion of privacy; exploitation of a person for advertising or commercial purposes; situations; not applicable. Any person, firm, or corporation that exploits a natural person, name, picture, portrait, or personality for advertising or commercial purposes shall be liable for invasion of privacy. The provisions of this section shall not apply to:

(1) The publication, printing, display, or use of the name or likeness of any person in any printed, broadcast, telecast, or other news medium or publication as part of any bona fide news report or presentation or noncommercial advertisement having a current or historical public interest and when such name or likeness is not used for commercial advertising purposes;

(2) The use of such name, portrait, photograph, or other likeness in connection with the resale or other distribution of literary, musical, or artistic productions or other articles of merchandise or property when such person has consented to the use of his or her name, portrait, photograph, or likeness on or in connection with the initial sale or distribution thereof so long as such use does not differ materially in kind, extent, or duration from that authorized by the consent as fairly construed; or

(3) Any photograph of a person solely as a member of the public when such person is not named or otherwise identified in or in connection with the use of such photograph.

20-203. Invasion of privacy; trespass or intrude upon a person's solitude. Any person, firm, or corporation that trespasses or intrudes upon any natural person in his or her place of solitude or seclusion, if the intrusion would be highly offensive to a reasonable person, shall be liable for invasion of privacy.

20-204. Invasion of privacy; place person before public in false light. Any person, firm, or corporation which gives publicity to a matter concerning a natural person that places that person before the public in a false light is subject to liability for invasion of privacy, if:

(1) The false light in which the other was placed would be highly offensive to a reasonable person; and

(2) The actor had knowledge of or acted in reckless disregard as to the falsity of the publicized matter and the false light in which the other would be placed.

20-205. Publication or intrusion; not actionable; when. Any publication or intrusion otherwise actionable under section 20-202, 20-203, or 20-204 shall be justified and not actionable under sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01 if the subject of such publication or intrusion expressly or by implication consents to the publicity or intrusion so long as such publication or intrusion does not differ materially in kind, extent, or duration from that implicitly or expressly authorized by the consent as fairly construed. If such person is a minor, such consent may be given by a parent or guardian. If the subject of the alleged invasion of privacy is deceased, such consent may be given by the surviving spouse, if any, or by the personal representative.

20-206. Right of privacy; defenses and privileges. In addition to any defenses and privileges created in sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01, the statutory right of privacy created in sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01 shall be subject to the following defenses and privileges:

(1) All applicable federal and Nebraska statutory and constitutional defenses;

(2) As to communications alleged to constitute an invasion of privacy, the defense that the communication was made under circumstances that would give rise to an applicable qualified or absolute privilege according to the law of defamation; and

(3) All applicable, qualified, and absolute privileges and defenses in the common law of privacy in this state and other states.

20-207. Invasion of privacy; action; nonassignable. The action for invasion of privacy created by sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01 shall be personal to the subject of the invasion and shall in no case be assignable.

20-208. Invasion of privacy; death of subject; effect. The right of action for invasion of privacy created by sections 20-201 to 20-211 and 25-840.01, with the single exception of the action arising out of exploitation of a person's name or likeness in section 20-202, shall not be deemed to survive the death of the subject of any such invasion of privacy.

20-209. Libel, slander, or invasion of privacy; one cause of action. No person shall have more than one cause of action for damages for libel or slander or invasion of privacy or any other tort founded upon any single publication, exhibition, or utterance, such as any one issue of a newspaper or book or magazine or any one presentation to an audience or any one broadcast over radio or television or any one exhibition of a motion picture. Recovery in any action shall include all damages for any such tort suffered by the plaintiff in all jurisdictions.

20-210. Judgment; bar against other actions. A judgment in any jurisdiction for or against the plaintiff upon the substantive merits of any action for damages founded upon a single publication, exhibition, or utterance as described in section 20-209 shall bar any other action for damages by the same plaintiff against the same defendant founded upon the same publication, exhibition, or utterance.

20-211. Invasion of privacy; statute of limitations. An action for invasion of privacy must be brought within one year of the date the cause of action arose.

28-311.08. Unlawful intrusion; penalty. (1) it shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly intrude upon any other person without his or her consent or knowledge in a place of solitude or seclusion. (2) For purposes of this section: (a) intrude means the viewing or recording, either by video, audio, or other electronic means, of a person in a state of undress; and (b) place of solitude or seclusion means a place where a person would intend to be in a state of undress and have reasonable expectation of privacy, including, but not limited to, any facility, public or private, used as a restroom, tanning booth, locker room, shower room, fitting room or dressing room. (3) Violation of this section is a Class III misdemeanor unless the victim is under the age of eighteen in which case a violation is a class II misdemeanor. Lack of knowledge as to the victim's age is not a defense to be enhanced penalty under this section.

D. NEWSROOM SEARCH

29-813. Search warrant; issuance; limitation; terms; defined. (1) A warrant may be issued under sections 29-812 to 29-821 to search for and seize any property (a) stolen, embezzled, or obtained under false pretenses in violation of the laws of the State of Nebraska, (b) designed or intended for use or which is or has been used as the means of committing a criminal offense, (c) possessed, controlled, designed, or intended for use or which is or has been possessed, controlled, designed, or used in violation of any law of the State of Nebraska making such possession, control, design, or use, or intent to use, a criminal offense, or (d) which constitutes evidence that a criminal offense has been committed or that a particular person has committed a criminal offense.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, no warrant shall be issued to search any place or seize anything in the possession, custody, or control of any person engaged in procuring, gathering, writing, editing, or disseminating news or other information for distribution to the public through a medium of communication unless probable cause is shown that such person has committed or is committing a criminal offense. For purposes of this subsection, the terms person, information, and medium of communication shall be defined as provided in section 20-145.

E. OBSCENITY

28-807(10). Terms, defined. Obscene shall mean (a) that an average person applying contemporary community standards would find that the work, material, conduct or live performance taken as a whole predominantly appeals to the prurient interest or a shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex or excretion, (b) the work, material, conduct or live performance depicts or describes in a patently offensive way sexual conduct specifically set out in sections 28-807 to 28-829, and (c) the work, conduct, material or live performance taken as a whole lacks serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value.

28-813. Obscene literature or material; prepares; distributes; promotes; penalty. (1) Any person who knowingly (a) prints, copies, manufactures, prepares, produces, or reproduces obscene material for purpose of sale or distribution, (b) publishes, circulates, sells, rents, lends, transports in intrastate commerce, or distributes or exhibits any obscene material, (c) has in his possession with intent to sell, rent, lend, transport, or distribute any obscene material, or (d) promotes any obscene material or performance shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor.

(2) Every person who places an order for any advertising promoting the sale or distribution of material represented or held out to be obscene, whether or not such material exists in fact or is obscene, shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor. In all cases in which a charge or violation of this section is brought against a person who cannot be found in this state, the executive authority of this state may demand extradition of such person from the executive authority of the state in which such person may be found.

(3) A person commits an offense of promoting obscene material if knowing its content and character he: (a) Disseminates for monetary consideration any obscene material; (b) produces, presents, or directs obscene performances for monetary consideration; or (c) participates for monetary consideration in that part of a performance which makes it obscene.

(4) Any person who violates this section shall be guilty of a class I misdemeanor.

F. NEWSPAPER - SUBSCRIPTIONS AND PRINTING

63-101. Newspapers; magazines, periodicals; recipient, when not liable for subscription price. No person in this state shall be compelled to pay for any newspaper, magazine or other publication which shall be mailed or sent to him without his having subscribed for or ordered it, or which shall be mailed or sent to him after the time of his subscription or order therefore has expired, notwithstanding that he may have received it.

63-102. Books, pamphlets; printing copies in excess of contract prohibited. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation who shall enter into a contract for the printing, stereotyping, binding or publication of any book, pamphlet, circular or other publication of any character or description, for any author, compiler or publisher, to print any greater number of copies of such book, pamphlet, circular, or other publication, than the number designated by the contract for such publication.

63-103. Violations; penalty. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of section 63-102 shall upon conviction thereof be guilty of a Class IV misdemeanor and in addition thereto shall be liable to the author, compiler or publisher with whom such contract was made, for all damages which may accrue by reason of such unlawful publication.

V. COPYRIGHT

COPYRIGHTS--A SUMMARY

Copyright protection as a subject of federal jurisdiction is embodied in Article I, Section 8, Clause 8, of the United States Constitution. Congress has enacted the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101 et seq. The term "copyright" has been defined as "an exclusive privilege, by force of statute, of author or proprietor, to print or otherwise multiply, publish and then copy his literary, artistic, or intellectual productions, and to license their production and sale by others during the term of its existence."

The press is faced with three fairly common copyright issues. The first is the basic issue of copyright protection for its editions of the news. The second is raised in connection with protection for ads. The final issue is the extent to which a newspaper can fairly use the words of other authors.

Obtaining Copyright Protection.

Copyright protection under the Act is permissive and flexible. Registration of the copyright is not a prerequisite to protection; however, it is a prerequisite to obtaining federal jurisdiction over the copyright claim and enforcing the copyright against an infringer. Thus, while the Copyright Act provides that the author of a work has a copyright whether or not he publishes a notice with his work, such a notice provides advantages. The first step in obtaining basic copyright protection is to claim ownership of the copyright by publishing notice on the material. To publish the appropriate notice, one must either imprint the symbol "c" in a circle, or the word "Copyright" or the abbreviation "Copr.", with the year and date of the publication, and the name of the owner of the copyright on the work. The copyright notice must be placed on the material in such a manner and location as to give reasonable notice to the claim of the copyright. Most newspapers find room for it on the masthead.

The next step entails registration. In order to enforce the copyright against a potential infringer, the copyright registration application must be submitted with the appropriate number of copies of the work and registration fee of $20. You may obtain the registration applications by calling a forms hotline number-202/707-3000, or by visiting the copyright office's website, www.copyright.gov.

Registration is permissive. It is not a requirement for copyright protection, but if a claim of infringement is to be pursued, registration must occur. Registration is encouraged. If registration does not occur within three months of first publication, the copyright owner loses his right to statutory damages. Statutory damages for copyright infringement is an election on the part of the copyright owner in a copyright infringement action. If elected, statutory damages entitle the owner to a sum not less than $500 or more than $30,000 if infringement is proven. Additionally, the court could award up to $150,000 if it finds that infringement was committed willfully. Attorney's fees can also be awarded. Statutory damages essentially allow a copyright owner to forego proving actual damages and profits. Failure to file the registration of the copyright within three months of its publication generally precludes a copyright owner from recovering statutory damages or attorney's fees but does not eliminate the owner's right to prove actual damages in profits or obtain injunctive relief.

Newspapers may register every edition for which a copyright is claimed, or may more selectively register those particular editions in which something is especially worthy of protection. Many newspapers register only if they become aware of an actual infringement and wish to preserve their right to legal recourse.

A practical question related to registration of newspaper editions: What copies are required to be deposited and when? Obviously, each edition of the newspaper could be forwarded and registered one by one. However, the cost and awkwardness of such a procedure renders this option impractical. By use of Form SE, a newspaper can blanket its copyright protection for a group of editions. This allows the newspaper to register by period covering all issues in the period. Furthermore, by special request, newspapers can request the copies be filed on microfilm, thereby eliminating costly shipping charges and allowing newspapers to accumulate issues for submittal.

Advertising.

Advertising presents a special problem for newspapers in copyright law. Generally, if an advertising department creates an ad for a customer, the customer traditionally has been regarded as the owner of the copyright, absent an agreement to the contrary. This principle has been referred to as the "work for hire" doctrine and is embodied in Section 201(b) of the Act. Nevertheless, in the case of newspapers who prepare advertisements for customers without customer assistance and where the customer pays only for the advertising space, it can be argued that the newspaper owns the copyright. In the grey area where newspaper and the customer collaborate on the ad, the copyright may be owned by the parties as tenants in common, with each co-owner having a right to license the use of the work subject to a duty to account to the other co-owner for any profit earned. Consequently, newspapers should specify the ownership right to any advertisement in agreements with all customers who will rely on the newspaper for their advertising copy and design.

Fair Use.

Another area of some confusion in copyright law is the doctrine of fair use embodied in Section 107 of the Act. As indicated previously, an author of original work has an exclusive right to reproduce the copyrighted work in copies and to distribute copies to the public by sale or the transfer of ownership. The fair use doctrine embodied in Section 107 allows a party to use a copyrighted work of another, including use by reproduction and copies or by other means, for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, or research. The fair use doctrine however is a slippery standard and must be used to analyze whether the use is indeed fair.

The first factor examines purpose and character of the use and specifically focuses upon whether the use is of a commercial nature or for nonprofit educational purposes. A second factor examines the nature of the copyrighted work, that is whether the work itself has a utilitarian purpose and is not something that has an immediate commercial value and is of great public interest. The third factor examines the amount and substantiality of the portion of the work used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole. Obviously, the more verbatim copying of a work that is used the greater the chance that the use is not fair. Finally, the fourth factor looks at the effect of the use upon the potential market or value of the copyrighted work. The case law on the fair use doctrine is diverse and sometimes comes to inconsistent conclusions. If a use of someone's copyrighted work is contemplated, careful consideration as to how it will be used must be analyzed.

The question of how much verbatim copying of a particular work can be used and still come within the fair use exception is a primary concern. One cannot place exact parameters upon the verbatim copying of work. However, in a recent case involving a newspaper's use of the fair use defense on the basis that their copying was for news reporting, the court held that although news reporting is one of the purposes enumerated in Section 107, the defendant's use was not fair use insofar as they had reprinted approximately 92% of the plaintiff's article. Furthermore, even though news reporting is in itself a worthy endeavor, the fact that the use was for a commercial rather than an educational purpose practically eliminated the possibility that plaintiff could sell his article. In these circumstance, courts will find that the use was not fair, and the newspaper's use violated the author's copyright. Print medium is of such nature as to generally deny an author his right to commercially utilize his copyrighted work if a substantial portion of the work is published.

A. Open Judicial Proceedings

24-1001. Proceedings to be public. All judicial proceedings of all courts established in this state must be open to the attendance of the public unless otherwise specially provided by statute.

B. Open Court Guidelines

Under the First Amendment right to access cases and under Nebraska's Supreme Court Guidelines, courts can almost never legally be closed to the public and press. Under Nebraska law, in only two kinds of situations is a defendant even allowed to request a closed court, and those are (1) where there is a confession whose admissibility is in dispute and (2) where the defendant will be trying to suppress other evidence which he claims was obtained illegally.

In those cases only can there be a motion to close under the Court rules. Then, besides proving that eligibility, the defendant has to produce evidence to prove:

- (1) that an open court is substantially likely to damage the fair trial Sixth Amendment rights;
- (2) that there are no other reasonable alternatives to avoid damage to the fair
- (3) that the closing would in fact cure or prevent that possible damage.

The procedures for such hearings are set forth in the Guidelines, and require actual evidence, not just arguments, by the defendant. They allow the news media to set forth its own arguments why the court should be kept open, by intervening in the case.

Over the last two decades, there have been no more than one or two successful court closing motions in our state, and by no means should it be assumed that courts freely can close their doors to the public and press. All such motions should be opposed.

The Guidelines are outlined in Chapter 6, Article 2 of the Nebraska Court Rules.

6-201. Purpose. (a) The purpose of these guidelines is to aid judges of the courts of Nebraska in determining whether a proceeding may be closed from the general public, in whole or in part. In formulating such guidelines it must be kept in mind that as a general principle it is the view of the judiciary of the State of Nebraska that proceedings should be open to the public at all times and only closed, in whole or in part, where evidence presented to the court establishes that by permitting all or part of the proceeding to remain open to the public, a party's right to a fair trial will be substantially and adversely affected and there are no other reasonable alternatives available to protect against such substantial and adverse effect. We therefore establish the following guidelines to aid judges of the courts of the State of Nebraska in determining whether a judicial proceeding of any type should be closed, in whole or in part. (b) Except as otherwise specifically provided by law or by these guidelines, the general public should not be excluded from a legal proceeding of any type or nature, including a pretrial criminal hearing, suppression hearing, or trial on the merits.

6-202. Grounds for closure; waiver. Except as otherwise provided herein, upon motion of the defendant or one standing in the position of a defendant, even if known by another name and hereinafter called defendant, the court may consider excluding the general public from all or a portion of a proceeding at which:

(a) The voluntariness of a confession may be seriously disputed and the admissibility of the confession will be a material issue either at the preliminary proceeding then before the court, or at a subsequent hearing, including the trial on the merits, and the court finds based upon evidence adduced that permitting the general public to be present during such proceeding is likely to result in substantially injuring or damaging the accused's right to a fair proceeding and that no other reasonable alternative exists to assure the defendant of a fair trial, or

(b) The defendant is seeking to suppress evidence allegedly obtained illegally and the court finds based upon evidence adduced that permitting the general public to be present during such proceeding is likely to result in substantially injuring or damaging the accused's right to a fair proceeding and that no other reasonable alternative exists to assure the defendant of a fair trial.

(c) If the court believes that by permitting the general public to be present at either of the hearings noted in § 6-202(A) or (B), the defendant may be denied a fair trial, and the defendant has not moved for closure, the court shall inquire of the defendant, on the record, whether the defendant desires to hold all or a part of such proceeding with the public present. If the defendant elects to hold such hearing with the public present, the court shall so proceed after noting the defendant's election on the record. If the defendant, however, elects to close all or a portion of such proceeding and so advises the court, it shall be as if the defendant has so moved and all of the provisions of these guidelines shall apply.

6-203. Hearing for closure. Before determining to close such proceedings, in whole or in part, the court shall give reasonable notice to all parties to the proceedings and such other persons who have advised the clerk of the court in writing, in advance of a specific trial, of their desire to be notified if such a motion is presented and is to be considered by the court. In giving such notice, the court will advise all such persons of the time and place when hearing on the motion shall be heard and shall afford all interested persons, including the general public, a reasonable opportunity to be present and prepare for such hearing.

6-204. Closure; findings required; record required. If the trial court determines after hearing that permitting the general public to hear such matters under consideration will result in a substantial likelihood of injury or damage to the accused's right to a fair trial and no other reasonable alternative for assuring a fair trial exists, the trial court may exclude the general public from such proceeding. To the extent that the trial court can isolate the testimony concerning such matter from other matters presented to the court at the same time, the general public should be excluded only from that portion of the hearings in which such matter is being considered or evidence taken.

Except as otherwise provided by law, all matters heard by the court after the general public has been excluded shall nevertheless be on the record and shall be made available for public inspection within a reasonable time after a final judgment or verdict in the case has been rendered.

6-205. In camera proceeding; record required. The court may receive preliminary evidence concerning the matters noted in § 6-204 in camera, in the presence of counsel for the parties and such other members of the public who have required the right to be present. A record shall be made of the hearing in camera. The trial court may order such proceedings sealed until after a final judgment or verdict in the trial court has been rendered. The fact that the case in chief is pending on appeal before the Supreme Court of Nebraska shall not prevent the previously sealed tape from being made available to the public upon request. The sealed record, however, shall be made available for purposes of review by the Supreme Court or other court of competent jurisdiction pertaining to the decision to close the proceedings, in whole or in part.

6-206. Maintain decorum; general considerations. Nothing in these guidelines shall be construed, however, to limit the powers of the courts to maintain decorum by ordering unruly spectators removed from the courtroom, or by reasonably limiting the number of spectators, or by exercising similar powers of judges at common law, nor shall anything in these guidelines require a judge to exclude the general public from any such proceedings if, after considering such matter the trial court concludes that permitting the general public to be present will not create a substantial likelihood of injury or damage to the accused's right to a fair hearing. The fact that an accused or other witness may be embarrassed or be subject to public ridicule by reason of the public being present shall not be grounds upon which to close such matters, it being the intention of these guidelines to prescribe extremely limited situations under which courts shall be closed to the general public and otherwise establish a general policy of permitting courts to be open to the general public, consistent with the accused's constitution rights to a fair hearing.

C. Nebraska Bar-Press Guidelines

1. For Disclosure and Reporting of Information Relating to Imminent or Pending Criminal Litigation.

These voluntary guidelines reflect standards which bar and news media representatives believe are a reasonable means of accommodating, on a voluntary basis, the correlative constitutional rights of free speech and free press with the right of an accused to a fair trial. They are not intended to prevent the news media from inquiring into and reporting on the integrity, fairness, efficiency and effectiveness of law enforcement, the administration of justice, or political or governmental questions whenever involved in the judicial process.

As a voluntary code, these guidelines do not necessarily reflect in all respects what the members of the bar or the news media believe would be permitted or required by law.

2. Information Generally Appropriate for Disclosure, Reporting.

Generally, it is appropriate to disclose and report the following information:

- a. The arrested person's name, age, residence, employment, marital status and similar biographical information.
- b. The charge, its test, any amendments thereto, and, if applicable, the identity of the complainant,
- c. The amount or conditions of bail.
- d. The identity of and biographical information concerning the complaining party and victim, and if a death is involved, the apparent cause of death unless it appears that the cause of death may be a contested issue.
- e. The identity of the investigating and arresting agencies and the length of the investigation.
- f. The circumstances of arrest, including time, place, resistance, pursuit, possession of and all weapons used, and a description of the items seized at the time of arrest. It is appropriate to disclose and report at the time of seizure the description of physical evidence subsequently seized other than a confession, admission or statement. It is appropriate to disclose and report the subsequent finding of weapons, bodies, contraband, stolen property and similar physical items if, in view of the time and other circumstances, such disclosure and reporting are not likely to interfere with a fair trial.
- g. Information disclosed by the public records, including all testimony and other evidence adduced at the trial.

3. Information Generally Not Appropriate for Disclosure, Reporting.

Generally, it is not appropriate to disclose or report the following information because of the risk of prejudice to the right of an accused to a fair trial:

1. The existence or contents of any confession, admission or statement given by the accused, except it may be stated that the accused denies the charges made against him. This paragraph is not intended to apply to statements made by the accused to representatives of the news media or to the public.

2. Opinions concerning the guilt, the innocence or the character of the accused.
3. Statements predicting or influencing the outcome of the trial.
4. Results of any examination or tests or the accused's refusal or failure to submit to an examination or test.
5. Statements or opinions concerning the credibility or anticipated testimony of prospective witnesses.
6. Statements made in the judicial proceedings outside the presence of the jury relating to confessions or other matters which, if reported, would likely interfere with a fair trial.

4. Prior Criminal Records.

Lawyers and law enforcement personnel should not volunteer their prior criminal records of an accused except to aid in his apprehension or to warn the public of any dangers he presents. The news media can obtain prior criminal records from the public records of the courts, police agencies and other governmental agencies and from their own files. The news media acknowledge, however, that publication or broadcast of an individual's criminal record can be prejudicial, and its publication or broadcast should be considered very carefully, particularly after the filing of faunal charges and as the time of the trial approaches, and such publication or broadcast should generally be avoided because readers, viewers and listeners are potential jurors and an accused is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

5. Continuing Committee for Cooperation.

The members of the bar and the news media recognize the desirability of continued joint efforts in attempting to resolve any areas of differences that may arise in their mutual objective of assuring to all Americans both the correlative constitutional rights to freedom of speech and press and to a fair trial. The bar and the news media, through their respective associations, have determined to establish a permanent committee to revise these guidelines whenever this appears necessary or appropriate, to issue opinions as to their application to specific situations, to receive, evaluate and make recommendations with respect to complaints and to seek to effect through educational and other voluntary means a proper accommodation of the constitutional correlative rights of free speech, free press and fair trial.

D. Open Meetings

79-317. State Board of Education; meetings; open to public; exceptions; compensation and expenses.

(1) The State Board of Education shall meet regularly and periodically in the office of the State Department of Education at least four times annually and at such other times and places as it may determine necessary for the proper and efficient conduct of its duties. All meetings shall be called in accordance with this section and the Open Meetings Act. Five members of the board shall constitute a quorum.

(2) The public shall be admitted to all meetings of the State Board of Education except to such closed sessions as the board may direct in accordance with the Open Meetings Act. The board shall cause to be kept a record of all public meetings and proceedings of the board. The commissioner, or his or her designated representative, shall be present at all meetings except when the order of business for the board is the selection of a Commission of Education.

(3) The members of the State Board of Education shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be reimbursed for actual and essential expenses incurred in attending meetings or incurred in the performance of duties as directed by the board as provided in sections 81-1174 to 81-1177.

CHAPTER 84. STATE OFFICERS

Article 14. Open Meetings

84-1407. Act, how cited.

Sections 84-1407 to 84-1414 shall be known and may be cited as the Open Meetings Act.

84-1408. Declaration of intent; meetings open to public. It is hereby declared to be the policy of this state that the formation of public policy is public business and may not be conducted in secret.

Every meeting of a public body shall be open to the public in order that citizens may exercise their democratic privilege of attending and speaking at meetings of public bodies, except as otherwise provided by the Constitution of Nebraska, federal statutes, and the Open Meetings Act.

84-1409. Terms, defined. For purposes of the Open Meetings Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) (a) Public body means (i) governing bodies of all political subdivisions of the State of Nebraska, (ii) governing bodies of all agencies, created by the Constitution of Nebraska, statute, or otherwise pursuant to law, of the executive department of the State of Nebraska, (iii) all independent boards, commissions, bureaus, committees, councils, subunits, or any other bodies created by the Constitution of Nebraska, statute, or otherwise pursuant to law, (iv) all study or advisory committees of the executive department of the State of Nebraska whether having continuing existence or appointed as special committees with limited existence, (v) advisory committees of the bodies referred to in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subdivision, and (vi) instrumentalities exercising essentially public functions; and

(b) Public body does not include (i) subcommittees of such bodies unless a quorum of the public body attends a subcommittee meetings or unless such subcommittees are holding hearings, making policy, or taking formal action on behalf of their parent body, and (ii) entities conducting judicial proceedings unless a court or other judicial body is exercising rulemaking authority, deliberating, or deciding upon the issuance of administrative orders;

(2) Meeting shall mean all regular, special or called meetings, formal or informal, of any public body for the purposes of briefing, discussion of public business, formation of tentative policy, or the taking of any action of the public body; and

(3) Videoconferencing means conducting a meeting involving participants at two or more locations through the use of audio-video equipment which allows participants at each location to hear and see each meeting participant at each other location, including public input. Interaction between meeting participants shall be possible at all meeting locations.

84-1410. Closed session; when; purpose; reasons listed; procedure; right to challenge; prohibited acts; chance meetings, conventions, workshops.

(1) Any public body may hold a closed session by the affirmative vote of a majority of its voting members if a closed session is clearly necessary for the protection of the public interest or for the prevention of needless injury to the reputation of an individual and if such individual has not requested a public meeting. The subject matter and the reason necessitating the closed session shall be identified in the motion to close. Closed sessions may be held for, but shall not be limited to, such reasons as:

(a) Strategy sessions with respect to collective bargaining, real estate purchases, pending litigation, or litigation which is imminent as evidenced by communication of a claim or threat of litigation to or by the public body;

(b) Discussion regarding deployment of security personnel or devices;

(c) Investigative proceedings regarding allegations of criminal misconduct; or

(d) Evaluation of the job performance of a person when necessary to prevent needless injury to the reputation of a person and if such person has not requested a public meeting; or

(e) For the Community Trust created under section 81-1801.02, discussion regarding the amounts to be paid to individuals who have suffered from a tragedy of violence or natural disaster.

(f) For public hospitals, governing board peer review activities, professional review activities, review and discussion of medical staff investigations or disciplinary actions, and any strategy session concerning transactional negotiations with any referral source that is required by federal law to be conducted at arms length.

Nothing in this section shall permit a closed meeting for discussion of the appointment or election of a new member to any public body.

(2) The vote to hold a closed session shall be taken in open session. The entire motion, the vote of each member on the question of holding a closed session, and the time when the closed session commenced and concluded shall be recorded in the minutes. If the motion to close passes, then the presiding officer immediately prior to the closed session shall restate on the record the limitation of the subject matter of the closed session. The public body holding such a closed session shall restrict its consideration of matters during the closed portions to only those purposes set forth in the motion to close as the reason for the closed session. The meeting shall be reconvened in open session before any formal action may be taken. For purposes of this section, formal action shall mean a collective decision or a collective commitment or promise to make a decision on any question, motion, proposal, resolution, order, or ordinance or formation of a position or policy but shall not include negotiating guidance given by members of the public body to legal counsel or other negotiations in closed sessions authorized under subdivision (1)(a) of this section.

(3) Any member of any public body shall have the right to challenge the continuation of a closed session if the member determines that the session has exceeded the reason stated in the original motion to hold a closed session or if the member contends that the closed session is neither clearly necessary for (a) the protection of the public interest or (b) the prevention of needless injury to the reputation of an individual. Such challenge shall be overruled only by a majority vote of the members of the public body. Such challenge and its disposition shall be recorded in the minutes.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require that any meeting be closed to the public. No person or public body shall fail to invite a portion of its members to a meeting, and no public body shall designate itself a subcommittee of the whole body for the purpose of circumventing the Open Meetings Act. No closed session, informal meeting, chance meeting, social gathering, email, fax, or other electronic communication shall be used for the purpose of circumventing the requirements of the act.

(5) The act does not apply to chance meetings or to attendance at or travel to conventions or workshops of members of a public body at which there is no meeting of the body then intentionally convened, if there is no vote or other action taken regarding any matter over which the public body has supervision, control, jurisdiction or advisory power.

84-1411. Meetings of public body; notice; contents; when available; right to modify; duties concerning notice; videoconferencing or telephone conferencing authorized; emergency meeting without notice; appearance before public body. (1) Each public body shall give reasonable advance publicized notice of the time and place of each meeting by a method designated by each public body and recorded in its minutes. Such notice shall be transmitted to all members of the public body and to the public. Such notice shall contain an agenda of subjects known at the time of the publicized notice, or a statement that the agenda, which shall be kept continually current, shall be readily available for public inspection at the principal office of the public body during normal business hours. Agenda items shall be sufficiently descriptive to give the public reasonable notice of the matters to be considered at the meeting. Except for items of an emergency nature, the agenda shall not be altered later than (a) twenty-four hours before the scheduled commencement of the meeting, or (b) forty-eight hours before the scheduled commencement of a meeting of a city council or village board scheduled outside the corporate limits of the municipality. The public body shall have the right to modify the agenda to include items of an emergency nature only at such public meeting.

(2) A meeting of a state agency, state board, state commission, state council, or state committee, of an advisory committee of any such state entity, of an organization created under the Interlocal Cooperation Act, the Joint Public Agency Act, or the Municipal Cooperative Financing Act, of the governing body of a public power district having a chartered territory of more than one county in this state, of the governing body of a public power and irrigation district having a chartered territory of more than one county in this state, of a board of an educational service unit, of the Educational Service Unit Coordinating Council, of the governing body of a risk management pool or its advisory committees organized in accordance with the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, or of a community college board of governors may be held by means of videoconferencing or, in the case of the Judicial Resources Commission in those cases specified in section 24-1204, by telephone conference, if:

(a) Reasonable advance publicized notice is given;

(b) Reasonable arrangements are made to accommodate the public's right to attend, hear, and speak at the meeting, including seating, recordation by audio or visual recording devices, and a reasonable opportunity for input such as public comment or questions to at least the same extent as would be provided if videoconferencing or telephone conferencing was not used;

(c) At least one copy of all documents being considered is available to the public at each site of the videoconference or telephone conference;

(d) At least one member of the state entity, advisory committee, board, council, or governing body is present at each site of the videoconference or telephone conference; and

(e) No more than one-half of the state entity's, advisory committee's, board's, council's or governing body's meetings in a calendar year are held by videoconference or telephone conference.

Videoconferencing, telephone conferencing, or conferencing by other electronic communication shall not be used to circumvent any of the public government purposes established in the Open Meetings Act.

(3) A meeting of a board of an educational service unit, of the Educational Service Unit Coordinating Council, of the governing body of an entity formed under the Interlocal Cooperation Act, the Joint Public Agency Act, or the Municipal Cooperative Financing Act, or of the governing body of a risk management pool or its advisory committees organized in accordance with the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act of a community college board of governors, of the governing body of a public power district, or of the governing body of a public power and irrigation district may be held by telephone conference call if:

(a) The territory represented by the educational service unit, member educational service units, community college board of governors, public power district, public power and irrigation district, or member public agencies of the entity or pool covers more than one county;

(b) Reasonable advance publicized notice is given which identifies each telephone conference location at which an educational service unit board member, a council member, a member of a community college board of governors, a member of the governing body of a public power district, a member of the governing body of a public power and irrigation district, or a member of the entity's or pool's governing body will be present;

(c) All telephone conference meeting sites identified in the notice are located within public buildings used by members of the educational service unit board, council, community college board of governors, governing body of the public power district, governing body of the public power and irrigation district, or entity or pool or at a place which will accommodate the anticipated audience;

(d) Reasonable arrangements are made to accommodate the public's right to attend, hear, and speak at the meeting, including seating, recordation by audio recording devices, and a reasonable opportunity for input such as public comment or questions to at least the same extent as would be provided if a telephone conference call was not used;

(e) At least one copy of all documents being considered is available to the public at each site of the telephone conference call;

(f) At least one member of the educational service unit board, council, community college board of governors, governing body of the public power district, governing body of the public power and irrigation district, or governing body of the entity or pool is present at each site of the telephone conference call identified in the public notice;

(g) The telephone conference call lasts no more than two hours; and

(h) No more than one-half of the board's, council's, governing body's, entity's, or pool's meetings in a calendar year are held by telephone conference call, except that a governing body of a risk management pool that meets at least quarterly and the advisory committees of the governing body may each hold more than one-half of its meetings by telephone conference call if the governing body's quarterly meetings are not held by telephone conference call or videoconferencing.

Nothing in this subsection shall prevent the participation of consultants, members of the press, and other nonmembers of the governing body at sites not identified in the public notice. Telephone conference calls, emails, faxes, or other electronic communication shall not be used to circumvent any of the public government purposes established in the Open Meetings Act.

(4) The secretary or other designee of each public body shall maintain a list of the news media requesting notification of meetings and shall make reasonable efforts to provide advance notification to them of the time and place of each meeting and the subjects to be discussed at that meeting.

(5) When it is necessary to hold an emergency meeting without reasonable advance public notice, the nature of the emergency shall be stated in the minutes and any formal action taken in such meeting shall pertain only to the emergency. Such emergency meetings may be held by means of electronic or telecommunications equipment. The provisions of subsection (4) of this section shall be complied with in conducting emergency meetings. Complete minutes of such emergency meetings specifying the nature of the emergency and any formal action taken at the meeting shall be made available to the public by no later than the end of the next regular business day.

(6) A public body may allow a member of the public or any other witness other than a member of the public body to appear before the public body by means of video or telecommunications equipment.

84-1412. Meetings of public body; rights of public; public body; powers and duties. (1) Subject to the Open Meetings Act, the public has the right to attend and the right to speak at meetings of public bodies, and all or any part of a meeting of a public body, except for closed sessions called pursuant to section 84-1410, may be videotaped, televised, photographed, broadcast, or recorded by any person in attendance by means of a tape recorder, camera, video equipment, or any other means of pictorial or sonic reproduction or in writing.

(2) It shall not be a violation of subsection (1) of this section for any public body to make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations regarding the conduct of persons attending, speaking at, videotaping, televising, photographing, broadcasting, or recording its meetings. A body may not be required to allow citizens to speak at each meeting, but it may not forbid public participation at all meetings.

(3) No public body shall require members of the public to identify themselves as a condition for admission to the meeting nor shall such body require that the name of any member of the public be placed on the agenda prior to such meeting in order to speak about items on the agenda. The body may require any member of the public desiring to address the body to identify himself or herself.

(4) No public body shall, for the purpose of circumventing the Open Meetings Act, hold a meeting in a place known by the body to be too small to accommodate the anticipated audience.

(5) No public body shall be deemed in violation of this section if it holds its meeting in its traditional meeting place which is located in this state.

(6) No public body shall be deemed in violation of this section if it holds a meeting outside of this state if, but only if:

(a) A member entity of the public body is located outside of this state and the meeting is in that member's jurisdiction;

(b) All out-of-state locations identified in the notice are located within public building used by members of the entity or at a place which will accommodate the anticipated audience;

(c) Reasonable arrangements are made to accommodate the public's right to attend, hear, and speak at the meeting, including making a telephone conference call available at an in-state location to members, the public or the press, if requested twenty-four hours in advance.

(d) No more than twenty-five percent of the public body's meetings in a calendar year are held out-of-state;

(e) Out-of-state meetings are not used to circumvent any of the public government purposes established in the Open Meetings Act;

(f) Reasonable arrangements are made to provide viewing at other in-state locations for a videoconference meeting if requested fourteen days in advance and if economically and reasonably available in the area; and

(g) The public body publishes notice of the out-of-state meeting at least twenty-one days before the date of the meeting in a legal newspaper of statewide circulation.

(7) The public body shall, upon request, make a reasonable effort to accommodate the public's right to hear the discussion and testimony presented at the meeting.

(8) Public bodies shall make available at the meeting or the in-state location for a telephone conference call or videoconference, for examination and copying by members of the public, at least one copy of all reproducible written material to be discussed at an open meeting. Public bodies shall make available at least one current copy of the Open Meetings Act posted in the meeting room at a location accessible to members of the public. At the beginning of the meeting, the public shall be informed about the location of the posted information.

84-1413. Meetings; minutes; roll call vote; secret ballot; when.

(1) Each public body shall keep minutes of all meetings showing the time, place, members present and absent, and the substance of all matters discussed.

(2) Any action taken on any question or motion duly moved and seconded shall be by roll call vote of the public body in open session, and the record shall state how each member voted, or if the member was absent or not voting. The requirements of a roll call or viva voce vote shall be satisfied by a municipality, a county, a learning community, a joint entity created pursuant to the Interlocal Cooperation Act, a joint public agency created pursuant to the Joint Public Agency Act, or an agency formed under the Municipal Cooperative Financing Act which utilizes an electronic voting device which allows the yeas and nays of each member of such city council, village board, county board or governing body to be readily seen by the public.

(3) The vote to elect leadership within a public body may be taken by secret ballot, but the total number of votes for each candidate shall be recorded in the minutes.

(4) The minutes of all meetings and evidence and documentation received or disclosed in open session shall be public records and open to public inspection during normal business hours.

(5) Minutes shall be written and available for inspection within ten working days or prior to the next convened meeting, whichever occurs earlier, except that cities of the second class and village may have an additional ten working days if the employee responsible for writing the minutes is absent due to a serious illness or emergency.

84-1414. Unlawful action by public body; declared void or voidable by district court; when; duty to enforce open meeting laws; citizen's suit; procedure; violations; penalties.

(1) Any motion, resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance or formal action of a public body made or taken in violation of the Open Meetings Act shall be declared void by the district court if the suit is commenced within one hundred twenty days of the meeting of the public body at which the alleged violation occurred. Any motion, resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance, or formal action of a public body made or taken in substantial violation of the Open Meetings Act shall be voidable by the district court if the suit is commenced more than one hundred twenty days after but within one year of the meeting of the public body in which the alleged violated occurred. A suit to void any final action shall be commenced within one year of the action.

(2) The Attorney General and the county attorney of the county in which the public body ordinarily meets shall enforce the Open Meetings Act.

(3) Any citizen of this state may commence a suit in the district court of the county in which the public body ordinarily meets or in which the plaintiff resides for the purpose of requiring compliance with or preventing violations of the Open Meetings Act, for the purpose of declaring an action of a public body void, or for the purpose of determining the applicability of the act to discussions or decisions of the public body. It shall not be a defense that the citizen attended the meeting and failed to object at such time. The court may order payment of reasonable attorney's fees and court costs to a successful plaintiff in a suit brought under this section.

(4) Any member of a public body who knowingly violates or conspires to violate or who attends or remains at a meeting knowing that the public body is in violation of any provision of the Open Meeting Act shall be guilty of a Class IV misdemeanor for a first offense and a Class III misdemeanor for a second or subsequent offense.

CHAPTER 85. State University, State Colleges, and Postsecondary Education

Article 1. University of Nebraska Board of Regents

85-104. Board of Regents; meetings; open to public; closed sessions; record of meetings; expenses. All meetings of the Board of Regents shall be open to the public. The board may hold closed sessions in accordance with the Open Meetings Act. Public record shall be made and kept of all meetings and proceedings of the board. The regents shall meet at least twice each year at the administration building.

E. Public Records

84-712. Public records; free examination; memorandum and abstracts; copies; fees. (1) Except as otherwise expressly provided by statute, all citizens of this state and all other persons interested in the examination of the public records as defined in section 84-712.01 are hereby fully empowered and authorized to (a) examine such records, and make memoranda, copies using their own copying or photocopying equipment in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, and abstracts therefrom, all free of charge, during the hours the respective offices may be kept open for the ordinary transaction of business and (b) except if federal copyright law otherwise provides, obtain copies of public records in accordance with subsection (3) of this section during the hours the respective offices may be kept open for the ordinary transaction of business.

(2) Copies made by citizens or other persons using their own copying or photocopying equipment pursuant to subdivision (1) (a) of this section shall be made on the premises of the custodian of the public record or at a location mutually agreed to by the requester and the custodian.

(3) (a) Copies may be obtained pursuant to subdivision (1) (b) of this section only if the custodian has copying equipment reasonably available. Such copies may be obtained in any form designated by the requester in which the public record is maintained or produced, including, but not limited to, printouts, electronic data, discs, tapes, and photocopies. This section shall not be construed to require a custodian to copy any public record that is available to the requester on the custodian's web site on the Internet. The custodian of the public record is required to provide the location of the public record on the Internet to the requester. If the requester does not have reasonable access to the Internet due to lack of computer, lack of Internet availability, or inability to use a computer or the Internet, the custodian shall produce copies for the requester.

(b) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the public body, public entity, or public official which is the custodian of a public record may charge a fee for providing copies of such public record pursuant to subdivision (1) (b) of this section, which fee shall not exceed the actual added cost of making the copies available. For purposes of this subdivision, (i) for photocopies, the actual added cost of making the copies available shall not exceed the amount of the reasonably calculated actual added cost of the photocopies, which may include a reasonably apportioned cost of the supplies, such as paper, toner, and equipment, used in preparing the copies, as well as any additional payment obligation of the custodian for time of contractors necessarily incurred to comply with the request for copies, (ii) for printouts of computerized data on paper, the actual added cost of making the copies available shall include the reasonably calculated actual added cost of computer run time and the cost of materials for making the copy, and (iii) for electronic data, the actual added cost of making the copies available shall include the reasonably calculated actual added cost of the computer run time, any necessary analysis and programming by the public body, public entity, public official, or third-party information technology services company contracted to provide computer services to the public body, public entity, or public official, and the production of the report in the form furnished to the requester.

(c) The actual added cost used as the basis for the calculation of a fee for records shall not include any charge for the existing salary or pay obligation to the public officers or employees with respect to the first four cumulative hours of searching, identifying, physically redacting, or copying. A special service charge reflecting the calculated labor cost may be included in the fee for time required in excess of four cumulative hours, since that large a request may cause some delay or disruption of the other responsibilities of the custodian's office, except that the fee for records shall not include any charge for the services of an attorney to review the requested public records seeking a legal basis to withhold the public records from the public.

(d) State agencies which provide electronic access to public records through a portal established under section 84-1204 shall obtain approval of their proposed reasonable fees for such records pursuant to sections 84-1205.02 and 84-1205.03, if applicable, and the actual added cost of making the copies available may include the approved fee for the portal.

(e) This section shall not be construed to require a public body or custodian of a public record to produce or generate any public record in a new or different form or format modified from that of the original public record.

(f) If copies requested in accordance with subdivision (1) (b) of this section are estimated by the custodian of such public records to cost more than fifty dollars, the custodian may require the requester to furnish a deposit prior to fulfilling such request.

(4) Upon receipt of a written request for access to or copies of a public record, the custodian of such record shall provide to the requester as soon as is practicable and without delay, but not more than four business days after actual receipt of the request, an estimate of the expected cost of the copies and either (a) access to or, if copying equipment is reasonably available, copies of the public record, (b) if there is a legal basis for denial of access or copies, a written denial of the request together with the information specified in section 84-712.04, or (c) if the entire request cannot with reasonable good faith efforts be fulfilled within four business days after actual receipt of the request due to the significant difficulty or the extensiveness of the request, a written explanation, including the earliest practicable date for fulfilling the request, an estimate of the expected cost of any copies, and an opportunity for the requester to modify or prioritize the items within the request. The requester shall have ten business days to review the estimated costs, including any special service charge, and request the custodian to fulfill the original request, negotiate with the custodian to narrow or simplify the request, or withdraw the request. If the requester does not respond to the custodian within ten business days, the custodian shall not proceed to fulfill the request. The four business days shall be computed by excluding the day the request is received, after which the designated period of time begins to run. Business day does not include a Saturday, a Sunday, or a day during which the offices of the custodian of the public records are closed.

84-712.01. Public records; right of citizens; full access; access by modem; fee authorized. (1) Except when any other statute expressly provides that particular information or records shall not be made public, public records shall include all records and documents, regardless of physical form, of or belonging to this state, any county, city, village, political subdivision, or tax-supported district in this state, or any agency, branch, department, board, bureau, commission, council, subunit, or committee of any of the foregoing. Data which is a public record in its original form shall remain a public record when maintained in computer files.

(2) When a custodian of a public record of a county which has a population of one hundred thousand inhabitants or more as determined by the most recent federal decennial census provides to a member of the public, upon request, a copy of the public record by transmitting it from a modem to an outside modem, a reasonable fee may be charged for such specialized service. Such fee may include a reasonable amount representing a portion of the amortization of the cost of computer equipment, including software, necessarily added in order to provide such specialized service. This subsection shall not be construed to require a governmental entity to acquire computer capability to generate public records in a new or different form when that new form would require additional computer equipment or software not already possessed by the governmental entity.

(3) Sections 84-712 to 84-712.03 shall be liberally construed whenever any state, county or political subdivision fiscal records, audit, warrant, voucher, invoice, purchase order, requisition, payroll, check, receipt or other record of receipt, cash or expenditure involving public funds is involved in order that the citizens of this state shall have the full right to know of, and have full access to information on the public finances of the government and the public bodies and entities created to serve them.

84-712.02. Public records; claimants before United States Department of Veterans Affairs; certified copies free of charge. When it shall be requested by any claimant before the United States Department of Veterans Affairs or his or her agent or attorney that certified copies of any public record be furnished for the proper and effective presentation of any such claim in such department, the officer in charge of such public records shall furnish or cause to be furnished to such claimant or his or her agent or attorney a certified copy thereof free of charge.

84-712.03. Public records; denial of rights; remedies. (1) Any person denied any rights granted by sections 84-712 to 84-712.03 may elect to:

(a) File for speedy relief by a writ of mandamus in the district court within whose jurisdiction the state, county, or political subdivision officer who has custody of said public record can be served; or

(b) Petition the Attorney General to review the matter to determine whether a record may be withheld from public inspection or whether the public body that is custodian of such record has otherwise failed to comply with such sections, including whether the fees estimated or charged by the custodian are actual added costs or special service charges as provided under section 84-712. This determination shall be made within fifteen calendar days after the submission of the petition. If the Attorney General determines that the record may not be withheld or that the public body is otherwise not in compliance, the public body shall be ordered to disclose the record immediately or otherwise comply. If the public body continues to withhold the record or remain in noncompliance, the person seeking disclosure or compliance may (i) bring suit in the trial court of general jurisdiction or (ii) demand in writing that the Attorney General bring suit in the name of the state in the trial court of general jurisdiction for the same purpose. If such demand is made, the Attorney General shall bring suit within fifteen calendar days after its receipt. The requester shall have an absolute right to intervene as a full party in the suit at any time.

(2) In any suit filed under this section, the court has jurisdiction to enjoin the public body from withholding records, to order the disclosure, and to grant such other equitable relief as may be proper. The court shall determine the matter de novo and the burden is on the public body to sustain its action. The court may view the records in controversy in camera before reaching a decision, and in the discretion of the court other persons, including the requester, counsel, and necessary expert witnesses, may be permitted to view the records, subject to necessary protective orders.

(3) Proceedings arising under this section, except as to the cases the court considers of greater importance, shall take precedence on the
